Every morning, Sinbad turns on the kitchen light and opens the refrigerator. He opens doors and waits patiently while Ken, his owner, fixes himself breakfast. Once in a while, Ken reaches down to rub the top of Sinbad’s head.

Several years ago, Ken was in a car accident. Ever since, he has been in a wheel chair. It is hard for him to turn on lights, open doors, or pick up things. That is why Sinbad is so important to him.

Sinbad is a “service” dog. He has been trained to help people like Ken. With his dog’s help, Ken can now get to work and take care of his home. “My partner, here,” says Ken, “really helps me get going.”

36. The best title is

- (A) A Dog for Sinbad.
