With today's environmental concerns and high gas prices, many consumers are looking for transportation alternatives. Because it isn't always practical to ride a bicycle, some have turned to alternative fuel vehicles, that is, cars that do not run on gasoline. One such innovation is the natural gas vehicle (NGV), one of the most fuel-efficient kinds of automobile on the market.

Few people realize that NGVs have actually existed for over two decades; South America in particular has seen a dramatic growth in NGVs in just the last few years. Sadly, due to pressure from the oil industry, NGVs have yet to gain a foothold in the global commercial market. Nowadays, with the rise in oil prices, natural gas is becoming a more competitive fuel alternative. Hopefully, we can take advantage of this opportunity and make the right environmental choice.

36. What are natural gas vehicles?

- (A) A type of alternative fuel automobile.
(B) A kind of fuel filter for cars that run on oil.
(C) A car that runs on different kinds of gasoline.
(D) A vehicle made from natural materials.

37. According to the passage, why haven't NGVs been very successful?

- (A) Because they pollute the environment.
(B) Because oil companies are opposed to them.
(C) Because they are not very fuel-efficient.
(D) Because they are only made in South America.

38. Why might NGVs become popular in the future?

- (A) Because they are cheaper than conventional vehicles.
(B) Because South America plans to produce more of them.
(C) Because oil prices are going up.
(D) Because the government has promised to make more.

39. According to the writer, for how long have NGVs actually existed?

- (A) less than 10 years
- (B) over 200 years
- (C) less than 20 years
- (D) more than 20 years.

40. Which statement is Not true?

- (A) NGVs have gained a foothold in the global commercial market.
- (B) It isn't always practical to ride a bicycle.
- (C) NGVs have become more popular in South America recently.
- (D) NGVs are very fuel-efficient and good for the environment.
