In-house Italian and Spanish language programs will begin next Tuesday morning for all new staff members working in Thompson's international division. Staff from our other departments, including the reception staff, can take the optional German classes, which are held at the same time. Written and oral tests will be held in the second-floor meeting room on Friday afternoon to determine class levels. The weekly language classes will cater to all abilities from beginner to advanced-level speakers.

Classes are taught by native Italian, Spanish, and German speakers, and field trips will be held at the end of the first term. Staff members who attend these classes will earn extra credits towards their educational development awards and will be eligible for end-of-year cash bonuses. For the first time, we have also introduced a travel prize for the top student in each of the three languages. The prizes will be 14-day trips to Italy, Germany, or Spain for two people, including all flights, meals, and accommodation. To register for the classes, please email your details to Jessica Lin- J.lin@thompson.com by Thursday afternoon.
